

The 'YES' and 'NO' of the GOOD ROADS PROPOSITION

If we Vote "YES" we

Get our main pikes reconstructed with some high-grade material, the government and state paying three-fourths of the cost.

These roads will then be maintained by the state, with no cost whatever to the county.

The large sum now spent on these roads in trying to keep them in condition for travel, can be spent on the side pikes and dirt roads, thus bringing them up to a better standard.

Good roads mean a saving to the farmer in transportation, in wear and tear upon vehicles and a corresponding reduction to the consumer.

Good roads mean better schools, better churches, a more satisfied citizenship and are today a crying necessity.

If we Vote "NO" we Slowly, yet surely, return to dirt roads. Macadam roads will not stand the heavy traffic of today and truck transportation is only in its infancy.

We must pay our part of the seventy-five cents the state and government propose to put up of every dollar expended, whether we get the benefit of it, or it is spent in some more progressive community.

A good road through Menefee county to West Liberty and on through Eastern Kentucky would help Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county almost as much as another railroad.

The increase in taxes will be very little, as only enough will be levied to take care of the bonds actually issued. Our Fiscal Court guarantees this.

Vote "YES" Saturday, May 28th

Two Great Highways Are Consolidated

The consolidation of two great transcontinental highways, The Midland Trail and The Roosevelt National Highway is announced by R. M. Sawhill, secretary-treasurer of the National Midland Trail Association. The merged highways will be called The Roosevelt Midland Trail.

The merging of these two great ocean-to-ocean roads will mean much to Mt. Sterling, as the consolidated highway will take the route of the old Midland Trail through here, and increased tourists traffic is assured. Especially is this true as extensive plans are already in operation by the Roosevelt Midland Trail Association for attracting this season's tourist travel over the Roosevelt Midland Trail. As a result of the merger this association becomes one of the strongest Highway Associations in the country.

In the merger the Roosevelt Midland Trail is claimed to be the shortest route between the two oceans, being 80 miles shorter than the shortest railroad route. It traverses Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California. The consolidation will extend the eastern end of the route to New York City.

Under the terms of the merger the officers of the Midland Trail Association become the officers of the Roosevelt Midland Trail Association. They are: President, George A. Bond, Kansas City, Mo.; vice president, Dr. R. R. Elmore, Louisville, Ky.; vice president, Col. W. G. Scott, Los Angeles, Calif.; secretary-treasurer, R. M. Sawhill, Glasco, Kansas.

The consolidation of the two big trails is the culmination of action started at the annual convention of the Midland Trail Association, held in Kansas City April 28. It is hoped that the Roosevelt Midland Trail will soon be a paved highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Road boosters say they will make it the main thoroughfare across the continent. They call it "The Main Street of America."

Will J. Graves, manager of the trail said: "While there are members of the Roosevelt Midland Trail Association in nearly every town and city along its route, the trail does not belong to the association. It belongs to the towns and cities along its route. It is your trail and is worth a lot to you. But we are going to make it worth more. The Orange and Black, two six-inch bands of orange with a six-inch band of black between will be the official marker of the Roosevelt Midland Trail, the same as the Midland Trail has always had."

Announcement

Mr. Arthur Pomeroy Brown announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Ivor, to Killough Henry Patrick, of White Oak, S. C. The wedding will take place at Olympian Springs, in June.

The bride elect is the eldest of a group of lovely sisters, all beautiful young women. She is a native of South Carolina, making her home in that state, but spending the summers with her father at Olympian Springs. During her visits to Kentucky she has won for herself countless friends and admirers, all of whom will learn with much interest of her engagement.

The following clipped from a White Oak newspaper, gives a beautiful account of an announcement party given for Miss Brown:

"The group of friends who assembled Saturday afternoon for the party at which Mrs. Lula Twitty Griffith was hostess, were treated to the pleasant surprise of having the hostess announce the engagement of Miss Ivor Brown to Mr. Killough Henry Patrick.

"The Griffith home on Jefferies street was converted into a lovely bower of flowers and foliage for the occasion, roses, sweet peas and mountain laurel predominating in the artistic decoration. It was a charming scene redolent of spring time, the flowers, costumes of the bride-to-be and the guests making a harmonious riot of coloring.

"The punch bowl, placed in the reception hall, was embedded in a wealth of mountain laurel and trailing greenery and was presided over by Mrs. S. B. Sherard and Mrs. Edward Watson.

"While Mr. Gordon Westrope played the wedding march on the violin, little Janet Willard, attired in the daintiest of white organdies and wearing a bridal veil, and Billy Gunter, Jr., in a handsome evening suit, played the part of bride and groom, coming down the stairway with a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas, which they presented to the bride-elect, after which they passed around a silver platter holding pretty horse-shoe favors with Bown-Patrick written on them. Appropriate good wishes were written by each guest in a pink moire "good wish book."

"The table had as central decorations Bohemian glass bowls of sweet peas and pinks. The ices were in the shape of hearts, and the cakes and mints were in pink and white.

"During the afternoon the bride-elect received a telegram from the groom-elect reading thus: "Happiness, joy and love from the other member of today's party." — Patrick.

"Miss Brown was lovely in a white canton crepe, trimmed in jade green with a becoming hat of the same colors. Her corsage was American Beauty rosebuds and ferns.

"During the next few weeks several other delightful affairs will be given for this pretty engaged girl, who has a magnetic personality and a delightfully womanly charm. She has for the past three years been one of the most popular young teachers in Gaffney and has shared in the many diversions of the smart set. Her father, Mr. Arthur Pomeroy Brown, resides in Kentucky, where the wedding will take place in June.

"Mr. Patrick is a native of Fairfield county and a member of one of the state's oldest families. He is a graduate of Erskine college, and is a prosperous young business man of White Oak."

EARTHBOUND

"No God. No sin. No future life. Nothing but the survival of the fittest, and every man for himself." That was the ruthless creed by which two men lived. They thought it had brought them success and riches until one of them was forced to sacrifice his wife upon the altar of that creed. Then he killed Dick Desborough, the man he had looked upon as his best friend, but Dick, even after death, was not free to progress. His spirit was forced to remain earthbound until he was willing to be guided by the higher creed that "love is the great progressive force both in this world and what we call the next." That is the theme about which Basil King built the powerful story, "Earthbound," which critics have recognized as the greatest and most impressive screen production ever attempted. In showing "Earthbound" at this theatre Friday we feel that we are offering the supreme achievement of motion picture art. It is an event which no one who thinks in the higher terms of life can afford to miss.
